well, setting up goals plays an indispensable role in everyone's life in order to achieve success. Although I have a number of roles that I wish to achieve in the upcoming time. But here, I would like to talk about a particular long-term goal is none other than learning french language. I vividly remember I made up this objective when I was studying in 10TH grade. At that time, there was a seminar in my school which was conducted by foreigners who have brilliant pedagogy skills and told us about the importance of french dialect and other skills related to languages as well as how to it will be helpful in the future. Moving further, that day I was thrilled to learn that language because I want to go abroad for my further studies and french is also crucial in overseas nations to commute or interact with french individual.

So, I promised myself to learn this language In order to achieve this goal. I will attend the class of french language in any coaching center which will be located a stone throw away from my place. Apart from this, after learning the fundamentals from the institute, I would give it the shot to converse with people on the social platforms, especially the foreigners.
Therefore, I have desire to become multi-passionate. At last, it will beaved letter day for me when I will acquire this objective!
And I will never miss the boat to learn and achieve something in my life.

Follow ups

Q1 Do people need to have goals?

A. To my way of thinking, the habits depend on the quality of the long-term goal set by an individual. However, some common habits are discipline, dedication and consistency. Discipline can help you achieve your long-term goals by providing structure and commitment. These are some habits one should have to acquire a long-term goal.

Q2 → Should parents set goals for children?

A. Yes, definitely because they are well aware of the interests and weaknesses of their offsprings better than others. So they can set up goals according to their abilities. Moreover, they also have experience and they always want the best for their children. So, they ought to assist the children in getting success at an earlier age by establishing goals.
