Well, From my childhood to this present time I meet numerous individuals who have different Creative skills like to make things by hand because it gives them inner gratification and peace. She is none other than Riya. She is my boom buddy ~~and~~ quite benevolent and industrious person. Actually she is with God Grace, she has gifted hand in art and Craft. She loves to do painting and make Craft things by hand in her leisure time.

I think that she feels gratification and rejuvenate after doing painting and Craft activities. She always put her best foot forward in order to paint her imagination on canvas (decorated)

Moreover, she has embellished her home with hand made paintings and Craft things. All the beautiful hand made paintings, vases, flower and curtains give aesthetic look to her abode. She has adorned every wall with unique painting which enhances the beauty of house

I vividly remember, on my 18th birthday she gifted me a hand-made floral jewellery set which is made of colorful thin metal wires. whenever, I wear this piece of Jewellery I receive ample compliments from my near and dear ones.

Despite all this, she is down to earth and never flaunts her talent to tease someone.

Because of her unique talent she won ample prizes in school competition

I felt really proud of her. I have tried to learn this skill, but it's not my cup of tea.
