well, To be honest from my childhood to this present time. I have met a number of individuals who have played a crucial role in my life. Here I would like to talk about a person whom I revere from the core of my heart. She is none other than my Bosom friend Arsh.

Actually, I know her since my childhood as she lives a stone's throw away from my home. Moreover, we spend most of time together.

Apart from this, she is kind hearted. She always tries to lend a helping hand to poor people. I must say, she is not born with a silver spoon that is why she always burns mid night oil she has a keen interest in social work. Whenever I chat-chat with her. she always talks about charity work. As she is always ready to extend a helping hand to poor people. she always talks about the gratification and peace she received by doing this work. She also motivates me to do social work. The one thing why I really admire her is that she is such a humble and generous person. I got to know from an article that she did charity for some cancer patients as she is a bleeding heart person and always supports the needy people, and I believe she is a huge inspiration to many people.

Honestly, I really feel proud of my friends job as she do work selflessly.

So, this is a person who likes to talk a lot related to social work.

Follow ups-

1. What communication skills does a talkative person have?

Ans. Honestly speaking, I believe talkative people have good communication skills as well as they can express their viewpoint clearly. Although all types of communication skills are imperative such as written communication skills and non verbal communication, but I believe that in this modern era, verbal communication is important in order to get success in any field.

2. Are you talkative?

Ans. Eventhough, I am an gregarious person, I mostly speak only when some situation require my opinion or when I am asked to otherwise, I speak in limit.

3. Are most Indian people talkative?

Ans. without any second thought, absolutely most of the Indian people loves to talk because they like to know each other's well being along with discuss what is going on one's life. Even we can hear noise at the public places like railway station, malls and restaurants so, they really like to socialise.

4. What jobs need employees to be talkative?

Ans. Actually, there are countless jobs where workers need to be talkative such as teachers, stand up comedian etc. Another job, I would say, could be salesman because they have to convince customers to buy any product. So these types of job need employees to be talkative.

5. Should children be encouraged to talk more?

Ans. To be honest, I am in a dilemma to answer this question. Although, I believe that they should definitely be encouraged to speak, children should also learn that when they should speak more otherwise it may lead to conflicts.
