Being a hodophile, I love to travel all around the world. But, sadly I am bad at remembering routes. In order to remember paths and reach the exact location I give priority to use electronic maps. Here I would like to talk about a particular time when I used a map. A year before, me and my friends planned to go to manali as Manali is a hidden gem and we hit the road after two days of planning. We all were jumping with joy while performing some fun activities like dancing and singing in the bus. Honestly, it was great fun of travelling for 12 hours despite which we were feeling full of beans. We stayed at hotel where we took rest and then we went in the winter carnival where a number of different state's performers perform their different traditional dances. Besides this, we were like children in a candy store while exploring well renowned places like Hadimba temple, mall road and many more. While wandering the mall road, I became overwhelmed because of the crowd and got lost. I felt gloomy but I calmed myself down and used an electronic map as my friends reached at another location. I found my friends with the assistance of the map and again we started enjoying. My overall experience was up to the mark due to this I have an appetite to explore such beautiful places with my family so that they can also experience the stunning view of himachal.

Follow ups.

Q1. What do people usually do when they get lost?

A. According to me, people often try to retrace their steps or look for familiar landmarks to find their ways. Moreover, they use maps and GPS to reach their destination.

Q2 → What are the differences between paper and digital maps?

A → I opine that paper maps are neither easy to understand nor portable. However, with the help of digital maps one can reach their desired place without any delay; even these are easy to understand as they show all the important landmarks and symbols.

Q3. What do you think of in-car GPS navigation systems?

A. Well, in-car GPS navigation system is a ~~useful~~ wonderful approach as

It is super helpful for them who drive in unfamiliar areas and want to find the best routes. Furthermore, one can get turn-by-turn directions and real time traffic updates.

Q4. Do you often get lost?

A. To be honest, I don't often get lost but sometimes we all have some moments when we forget the route. Particularly, in unfamiliar places with a lot of rush I often lose my way.

Q5. What do people often do with a map?

A. Maps are usually used to find routes along with exploring and discovering new places like eminent attractions of a particular place. In addition, maps are also used for education purposes. For example, students use maps in history and geography subjects to clear their doubts.
